

Congratulations

AND SO THE PARTY BEGINS. Even before you enter the Golden Lion, you'll be met with our Red Carpet Welcome and the opportunity to pose for some photographs against the back drop of our magnificent Georgian façade.

For more than two centuries, this beautiful hotel has graced the heart of Stirling. Patronised by royalty and by that most romantic of poets, Robert Burns, The Golden Lion has a history of hosting celebrations that have made its rafters ring.

Perfect Settings

Nothing matches the joy and grace of a wedding and no day will ever be as important to the Bride & Groom.

For those who wish to add a sense of Scottish history and tradition to their reception, there can be no better choice of venue than the Golden Lion. A beautiful venue will help make a beautiful celebration but it takes more than a grand building to make a perfect day. Events this important need planning, professionalism and panache.

Your party arrives to a champagne reception; their chance to meet and mingle as you greet each guest in turn.

Our OAK ROOM offers unique surroundings for your ceremony. Its character is one of grace, tradition and calm. It offers the dignity of a church and yet your reception in the WALLACE ROOM, only foot steps away, is ideal for more intimate celebrations; offering a traditional atmosphere for parties that include from twenty to sixty guests.

The Golden Lion is unique in its flexibility. The REGENCY BALLROOM can easily hold as many as 250 of your guests in a magnificent setting that is truly regal. And we can also apply the same panache and atmosphere to more intimate parties.

Our Wedding Co-ordinator, managers and chefs take pride in their ability to deliver the best of service, food and entertainment. We never lose sight of whose choices really matter, and we work closely with every couple to ensure that their Wedding Day is truly perfect.

On that one special day, a wedding at the Golden Lion guarantees golden memories that will last forever.

And, as a guarantee that everything will go to plan, read and be reassured by our Golden Lion Ten Point Promise.

Food for thought

Food plays a huge part in any wedding. It's a banquet to seal and celebrate a marriage, it's where old friends and family unite and where new friends are made. The meal is a major gesture of hospitality – a real chance to thank your guests – and, of course, it's a prelude to the speeches.

The Golden Lion understands all this. Our chefs create true feasts with a care and flair that will add style and pleasure to your day.

Choose from beautifully selected menus to suit all tastes and budgets. Remember, we're flexible enough to fulfil any specific culinary requests.

We're also masters of presentation. Our settings are always superb and, when dressed for a wedding, in a style of your choosing, they're guaranteed to delight your guests.
